

Burgess Road PD&E

– Escambia County

Client: Escambia County

Summary: PD&E Study for a Realigned Corridor - managed under a FDOT JPA

Detailed Activities:

Project Communications – Employed multiple project marketing methods in order to broadcast the most recent project information to as many of the targeted stakeholders as possible.

Public Workshops and Hearing – Supported project team in logistical coordination for public workshops. Created support materials including handouts, comment sheets, invitations, press releases, etc.

Comment Documentation – Provided complete documentation of all written and verbal comments, analysis of meeting attendance, and summary of meetings, in addition to providing meeting materials.

Burgess Road PD&E, Escambia County: EPR was part of the public involvement team for proposed corridor realignment. EPR's Public Project tasks included stakeholder identification and notification, meeting coordination, media notification, development of selected materials for the workshops and logistics.

